What is a “network”?
A network is a group of doctors, hospitals and other providers and facilities that have a contract with UnitedHealthcare. As part of their contract, they have agreed to follow our guidelines and provide health care services to you at lower prices.

Using network providers may help lower your health care costs and save you money.
Finding a network doctor who you trust is one way to help you stay healthy and create a health care team to manage your overall health. Reviewing your plan network and identifying the doctor(s) that may be right for you will be an important first step in getting the most from your health care plan.

For UnitedHealthcare CS VEBA Performance HMO Plans
With the UnitedHealthcare CS VEBA Performance HMO Plans, one of the decisions you make in managing your health is choosing your personal Primary Care Provider (PCP) from the plan network. You and your doctor will work as a team, along with nurses, specialists, and other health care providers to help you manage your overall health.
